

Welcome to study in MSc in European Forestry Erasmus Mundus!

Are you interested in an international career? Did you know that forest-based bioeconomy can provide new sustainable solutions for the future? MSc European Forestry is an accredited Erasmus+: Erasmus Mundus programme offered jointly by a Consortium of six leading European universities from Austria, Finland (coordinator), France, Germany, Romania and Spain. In addition, Associated Partner Universities from Canada, China and Brazil and several Associated Scientific and Industrial Partners from around Europe participate in the programme delivery. Our programme is an avant-garde response to the needs of the world's forestry and bioeconomy sectors and the graduates of MSc European Forestry programme are highly demanded by the labour market. All our students graduate with the ability to work in multicultural environments and will possess the latest knowledge of forest management and policy-making in Europe.

The special features of MSc European Forestry

- ✓ During the MSc EF studies students will study in at least two European top-quality universities.
- ✓ Studies include a one-month European forestry field course that takes students to Spain, France, Germany, Austria and Romania and an traineeship period of two months in Austria, Brazil, Canada, China, Finland, France, Germany, Spain or Romania.
- ✓ Upon graduation students will receive a double MSc degree certificate (two MSc degree certificates).

Minimum eligibility criteria

- ✓ Bachelor's degree in forestry or other related field
- ✓ Good command of English language. TOEFL iBT 92, PTE 62 or IELTS 6.5

Scholarships and fees

- ✓ Annual consortium fees for non-EU/EEA students will be 9 000 EUR. There are no consortium fees for students who are citizens of EU/EEA countries or Switzerland. The consortium fees are to be paid semestrial basis in advance.
- ✓ There will be NO Erasmus Mundus (EMJMD) scholarships available in 2025. There might be programme-specific scholarships available for the best applicants that can cover partly or totally consortium fees but no scholarships for living and travel costs. The number and amount will be decided within the student selection and the information on the possible award of the scholarship will be included in the notification of the admission results that will be sent to all accepted students by 28 May 2025.

Our application period opens 16 December 2024 and closes 22 January 2025 at 15:00 (GMT +2) for the course starting at the beginning of August 2025.

READ MORE: www.europeanforestry.eu

Master's degree programme in European Forestry Erasmus Mundus is organised by:

in cooperation with

and a number of Associated Industrial and Scientific Partners

With the support of the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union