European Forestry, MSc EF

MORE INFORMATION europeanforestry.eu

The moment you explore the forests of Europe.

In an era where understanding sustainable forest management is vital for our planet's future, you have the opportunity to do your part with the Master of Science in European Forestry degree programme. Our programme offers you the chance to delve into the diverse forest ecosystems across Europe and become an integral part of innovative solutions for sustainable forest practices.

MSc European Forestry (MSc EF) is a two-year integrated and interdisciplinary Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Programme (EMJM) providing academic education in the field of sustainable forest management with an emphasis on recent opportunities and challenges in the bioeconomy. It is one of the first Erasmus Mundus programmes in the world that has been accredited according to the European approach for quality assurance of the joint programmes.

The degree programme is run by seven renowned European universities:

- AgroParisTech, Nancy Campus (France)
- BOKU University (Austria)
- Transilvania University of Brasov (Romania)
- University of Eastern Finland (coordinating university)
- University of Freiburg (Germany)
- University of Lleida (Spain)
- Wageningen University (the Netherlands)

with several Associated Partner HEIs and Associated Industrial/Public/NGO Partners worldwide.
